Deprived of the Pleasure

As predicted when he left suddenly for a flying visit to China after bureaucratic fireworks in WPB, Donald M. Nelson has returned from the Orient, resigned as chairman of WPB and faces an uncertain future.

With no way of knowing how things lie between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Nelson, the public nevertheless is deprived again by seeming circumstances of trouble and disagreement of the pleasure of voicing proper gratitude for the service performed by a civilian expert during wartime. It was similarly deprived of a chance to appreciate Charles E. Wilson, who left WPB in the same blizzard. There have been many other cases in which civilians called to Washington to help the government have finished their jobs under circumstances which robbed them of what-ever credit they had earned. For some reason which is inexplicable to guileless citizens who live outside the District of Columbia, it apparently is impossible to get into the game its bureaucratic denizens play without coming out all muddy and bloody. What the country needs to restore its faith is for someone to go to Washington, get along fine and hand in a resignation eventually with regrets and the heartiest of all good wishes all around—and not a dead cat flying through the air anywhere.

Meanwhile, to the businessman who bossed war production when nobody else wanted the job and very few others could have handled it—it looks from here as if you did all right before the termites moved in on you.

Bricker Vs. Truman

Gov. Bricker, who has been making votes for his party as fast as he can make public appearances, will cover more than 9,000 miles in the next four weeks. An idea of his October activities in behalf of the Dewey-Bricker ticket is a schedule of 28 speeches in the first six days of his trip.

Before the end of the campaign it will be plain to more voters than comprehend it now that the contrast between Gov. Bricker and his counterpart on the Democratic ticket is a potent political factor. Sen. Truman is not a strong candidate. He was not strong when he was given the vice presidential nomination over his own protest, and as the country learns more about him he becomes less appealing as the public official who might succeed to the presidency in the event of Mr. Roosevelt's reelection. Sen. Truman personally feels his career is in the senate, and it is easy for the public to agree with him. The deal that put him into presidential politics was too shrewd for his good, his party's good or the country's good.

Gov. Bricker, by contrast, was presidential timber in his own right. On his own volition, he took the vice presidential nomination to help the party ticket. He knew that it meant chiefly an act of party service and some of the hardest work of his career. At the beginning of the last month of the campaign, it is evident that his energy, his obvious qualifications for the office he seeks and the inevitable comparison his appearance suggests with Sen. Truman are among the Republican party's most valuable assets for the forthcoming showdown in November.

Star Reporter

Prime Minister Churchill, reporting to the house of commons on the progress of the war in accordance with his custom and duty, has given Great Britain and, by remote control, the United States another of his by-remote summaries. He sees the possibility of war in Europe extending into 1945, but suggests that the Allies properly may view termination of organized hostilities as the end, without waiting for the end of all resistance. There will be, in other words, a definitive ending—an anniversary date.

Meanwhile, the United States and Great Britain are carrying on the war in a manpower ratio of three to two, but numerous American reserves are to be put into action if necessary to hasten Germany's collapse. There must be another three-way meeting of Russia, Great Britain and the United States. A large part of the British fleet is now in the Indian ocean, and the war against Japan will be prosecuted relentlessly. The Polish issue will be settled on Russian terms. United States casualties in France now total more than 145,000 men, British casualties upward of 90,000.

This is Winston Churchill, in his star reporter role, telling the world what it wants to know about the war.

Every time he makes a new report, Americans wonder why the same custom cannot be adopted in this country. It was adopted recently, as a matter of fact, when Mr. Roosevelt attempted to report on the progress of the war in the Pacific and pleased no one, according to subsequent criticisms of his performance. Perhaps it had better be admitted that Mr. Churchill is unique.

The Coffee Situation

The prospective coffee shortage which OPA is studying with furrowed brow raised the "threat" of a renewal of rationing to equalize distribution of a dwindling supply. But rationing, being now a familiar process, isn't nearly the "threat" it was two years ago.

Unfortunately, there is vastly more to coffee distribution than can be figured out with ration coupons. Coffee is in international politics to the last drop. Its distribution is one of those quid pro quo arrangements that trade experts love to make. Latin American countries with coffee to sell look to the United States as their only outlet in wartime. The United States, needing coffee, also realizes that the producers of coffee need to sell it. The rest is a long story with many turnings and devious complications, too intricate for an ordinary coffee drinker to comprehend, except for one detail.

That is the detail that right now the United States is the only important coffee customer in the world and unless producers would rather keep their coffee than dispose of it—or unless the coffee industry in general knows something better to do with coffee than sell it where the customers are, a lot of economic laws must have been repealed recently without notice.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, October 3.

ALTHOUGH there are signs of delays, obstacles, postponements, perhaps sorrows and disappointments, yet if these are met with determination, fortitude and well-organized plans and purposes, there should finally be some turn for the better, in which there may be a stabilizing and secure force to make the effort worthwhile. This may affect property, investments and securities.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of worthwhile benefits and safety if they will but maintain composure, restraint and prudence under all forms of stress and strain. Indulgence in quarrels, or rash and tumultuous conduct might precipitate loss, danger, regrets, sorrows and possible estrangements, especially with relatives or elders. Sound judgment and well-developed ideas and plans should prove advantageous especially where property or investments are concerned. Work for the future and security. There might be some public recognition.

A child born on this day may possess some stable, and sterling qualities despite a propensity to certain reckless, immoderate and turbulent moods.

The aged French physicist George Claude, perfecter of neon light, is reported to be the inventor of the Nazi robot bomb. We wouldn't put it past him, but we'd rather not believe he is responsible for this, too.

Having blinked at many streets filled with the garish reds and piercing blues of these sputtering, winking signs, we have concluded that responsibility for this eye-punching invention is about all that the conscience of one mortal man could bear.

A captured Nazi document angrily refutes the prevailing notion that Der Fuehrer "tears down curtains, bites the carpet in his rage, and rolls in convulsions on the floor" when things upset him.

It isn't hard to believe that Adolf has given up the unsanitary habit of rug-munching, now that those nice clean news dispatches from the front are constantly providing him with something fresh to chew on.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Willing Happiness

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

MY OLD friend, Dr. Adrian Gibbs, has been spending a week with me fishing, and in moments of relaxation from that absorbing vacation he has expounded some of his philosophy.

"I don't know whether it has got a good five cent cigar yet," he remarked the other evening, "but one they are."

Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

thing this country needs is for the inhabitants to realize how happy they are.

"If you have any idea that they do realize it, you must know an entirely different kind and set of people than my patients, because that realization has not permeated to them."

"Modern people are happy in the sense that they are not miserable, but they do not often enough face the acute and clear realization of their happiness. They do not pause and let their happiness surge over them."

Every Day Things

"In the first place, they take too many things for granted. And, in the second place, they let too many details harass them."

"The every day sources of happiness we take for granted make up a pitiful waste. Here the poet, the man of art, the temperamental one, has the advantage of us. I saw a musician of my acquaintance the other day standing stock still in the street looking at the advertising display on a billboard. All he could say when I braced him was—'Isn't that perfectly beautiful?'—over and over again. And it was when you stopped to look at it, though, I had passed it twice a day with no more thought than—'Oh! Just another sign!' We take for granted all the genius and beauty that the advertisers spread before us daily."

"A citizen of Princeton told me that when Einstein came there to live, he used to walk every day, fascinated, through the five and ten-cent store, stopping and gazing long in sheer happiness at the counters covered with their wares. The modern world spreads before us a free show and we accept it dumbly, with less appreciation than the denizens of the middle ages did his drab surroundings. Do you remember when you first visited a new city—New York, London, Paris—how for a week the mere sight of the streets exalted you? Or the first days of your vacation—the river, the seashore—did the same thing. Then you got used to it. We have been born kings in a fairland and we have all abdicated."

Willing Happiness

"The only form of psychotherapy I ever practiced on my patients was to teach them to will happiness. Every doctor has to have some kind of psychotherapy whether it is used by him consciously or unconsciously. Some give vitamins; I taught them to will happiness to themselves. It cured many a case of chronic appendicitis and endocrine disorder. I can tell you. You just make them sit still and think a while of all their blessings, thrust the troubles aside, and by will power make a surge of happiness fill their minds."

"It sounds trite and polyanthaish, but it has foundations. The trouble is we let details swamp our happiness. I found my wife, poor wretch, who has every reason to be happy, running herself into a gloom the other day because something had not come back from the cleaners. I know old guys sitting around listening to their arteries hardening. They are afraid one of them will get so hard the blood won't go through. It hasn't happened to them yet, but that doesn't stop them worrying."

"Being on the shady side of seventy I am grateful I still have my hearing and my eyesight. That is enough for me to obey the dear old canticle—'Lift up your hearts!' He can, too."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. F. F.—My son three and a half years old fails to recognize colors. I have worker with him for hours on end but he still mixes them up. He is bright otherwise and he tells me endlessly about something that is pretty so I don't think he is color blind.

Answer: He probably is color blind nevertheless. Only males have it. The color blind person lives in a world of beauty, even though it is different from ours so may thing something is pretty. It is best to find out whether he is color blind or not, because many adjustments in life depend on it. Any oculist can tell you. Four per cent of all males are color blind.

W. H.: What is the value of taking molasses and sulphur in the spring (horrid stuff)? We had quite an argument on it. I say it's just an old-fashioned remedy that really isn't worth much.

Answer: The J. Walter Thompson company would not like to hear you say that. I have a pamphlet from them advocating molasses milk shakes for babies because New Orleans molasses is such a rich source of iron. However, the spring tonic though valuable in its day, is not necessary in these times of food transportation and preservation. In the old days people got no fresh food during the winter, and spring found them anemic and a-vitaminized.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendingen has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendingen, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

SO THEY SAY

There is going to be no peace conference. The peace conference is going on now.

—Pirre van Paassen, author.

THE summer of this year, which our enemies predicted would see the collapse and capitulation of the Reich, has gone. Their united onslaughts have brought us numerous military reverses and losses, but no sign near or far of a German collapse.

Household Hints

Tomatoes, eggplant and peppers belong to the same family.

Never leave cutlery standing in water. Wash blades first, then handles. Dry thoroughly.

If cheer curtains are lightly starched they will hang better and not absorb dust so readily.

If you rub your hands with salt, the odor of onions will be removed.

The flour mill of early Americans consisted of two flat stones rubbed together.

As much as 90 per cent of the volume of a piece of flannel may be composed of air.

Tight skirts mean harder wear and shiny seats. Brush them frequently with a soft brush.

Fish bones like those in canned salmon and sardines which are soft enough to eat may contribute calcium.

Collection of Old Canes Is His Hobby

(By United Press)
PITTSBURGH — Some people prefer collecting stamps; some shoes; not a few rare antiques, but William A. Hutchison of Tarentum has collected, within the last 48 years, odd and beautiful canes, many with highly interesting backgrounds.

In his more than 450-odd canes reposes one once owned by Horace Greeley and was a combination gun-cane used when Greeley "toured" the then wild and roaring west.

But probably the prize possession of his whole collection is the cane he bought in Mexico City in 1896, and which was responsible for his one-half century hobby. Hutchison said he bought it the day after attending a bull-fight from a peddler and found it had been made from the defunct horns of "el toros" of the previous day's battles.

Practically every country in the world is represented in his odd collection, and seven of the 450 odd canes are made from the wood near the birthplaces of Presidents James Buchanan, James Monroe, William McKinley, Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, and Calvin Coolidge. Not a few of the canes have Washington associations and one, our first President cut himself from a Long Island pine.

Not all of his canes represent the historical. Present-day events are signified by many of his masterpieces. He has carved a cane from a mulberry limb taken from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Denison, Tex., birthplace.

More Efficient Kitchens In Store For Housewives

(By United Press)
NEW YORK — Some of the changes in store for the postwar world were outlined recently by J. Gordon Lippincott, noted industrial designer.

Tomorrow's kitchen will incorporate many time-saving devices, eliminating hundreds of miles from the average 3,000 miles a year covered by women in today's kitchen, he says. The uppermost shelves will slide down within easy reach of the shortest woman, corner sinks will utilize space heretofore lost, the refrigerator and stove will be easily accessible.

Electric irons will be placed necessarily because of the swing to synthetic fabrics. Washing machines will be sold in tandem, with dryers to provide for drying one batch of clothes while another is being washed, moths will be eliminated and bacteria in foods will be killed by the use of ultra-violet and infra-red rays.

by cutbacks, to provide a cushion against unemployment.

"Our experience so far with cutbacks is that a substantial number of the workers laid off women and older persons, withdrawn from the labor force and we have had difficulty holding as many as we need," Keenan stated.

"Our estimates would indicate," the directors added, "that war workers who stick to their jobs need have little fear that there will not be plenty of jobs after Germany's defeat. Moreover, the war with Germany is not yet over and we have just made a good start on the job of whipping Japan."

TO AMERICAN WOMEN ASKING—

"Will Defeat of Germany

Lessen the Need for Saving Used Fats?"

—THE GOVERNMENT ANSWERS "NO!"

ON THE contrary,

Mrs. America, the need for saving used cooking fats will be as great or greater than ever.

American farmers are doing everything possible to build up domestic production of fats and oils. But during the next 12 months, because of a smaller hog kill and reduced yields of some oil-seed crops, we expect that approximately a billion-and-a-third pounds less of fats will be produced.

Need Greater Than Ever

Therefore, more than ever, salvaging used cooking fats is an important resource on which the country must continue to lean in order to tide us over.

Saving used fats is not a glamorous task. It takes effort. But it is one that only you, the American housewife, can perform for the country. We ask you to continue the wonderful job you are doing to help speed final Victory.

Even victory over Japan will not ease the situation immediately. Not for a year or more can these areas be brought back to pre-war production levels.

In the meantime, the need for your used fats will be as acute as ever for these reasons:

1 Even after European victory, we still have Japan to beat. Vast supplies of ammunition, medicines, parachutes, rubber boats, soaps and other battlefield essentials must keep on going to our fighting men in a steady stream. These all require fats to make.

2 We must help in the rehabilitation of liberated countries, such as Greece, Norway and the Netherlands, with medicines, machinery, etc.

3 Many factories now producing for war will turn to manufacturing the civilian goods we need so urgently. These factories will consume vast quantities of industrial fats.

For every pound of used fat, your butcher will give you 4¢ and two free red points! Keep on saving every drop.

Rain Above Normal In September, But Water Level's Low

Temperatures during September were near normal—just 9 of a degree below the 63 degree average for the last 31 years—but rainfall was an inch above normal. Total precipitation was 4.05 inches, compared with the average of 3.01 for the month.

However, the year is still 3.1 inches short in rain. Top soil moisture is favorable but more rain is needed to replenish the underground water table which has been low since last spring.

In his report for the month, Co-operative Observer L. H. Copeland of Millport reveals that September had 55 per cent of sunshine, with many bright, sunny days. The month also had a variety of freakish weather, including violent wind and rain storms on Labor day which broke the long drouth condition. Corn and potato crops are poor and pastures are short.

First killing frost came on the 24th and fall weather arrived on schedule. A normal acreage of wheat has been planted but very little corn is in the shock, due to labor shortage and the weather.

Last month had an average temperature of 62.1 degrees, with a maximum of 88 on the 3rd and a minimum of 30 on the 24th. It rained on seven days, 13 were clear, 15 partly cloudy and only two cloudy.

A year ago September had some hotter days—94 maximum and a low of 30—but the average was 59.9, slightly cooler than this year. Total precipitation then was only 1.57 inches.

The warmest September on record was in 1893, with an average of 67.4 degrees; the coolest in 1918, with only 55.2 degrees. The wettest month, in 1926, produced 9.59 inches of rain and the driest, two years later, had only .05 of an inch.

Advice To Discharged Veteran Upon Getting Civilian Job Again

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—A veteran is discharged from the service. He begins his civilian life again. What are some of the main things he should—or must—do?

Here's a list of them, prepared by government agencies:

Draft board: Under the law he must report to his draft board in person or by letter within five days after his discharge. If he was not previously registered—that is, if he went into military service some way other than through the draft—he must register, too.

Getting old job back: If he wants the job he had before entering the service, he must apply to his former employer in person or writing within 40 days after his discharge from the service.

Ready to report for work: And this means he must also be ready to report for work within 40 days unless the boss agrees to let him delay reporting for work.

If the veteran worked for a private employer or the federal government before entering the service and wants that job back, these are the qualifications:

A Few 'Musts'

The job he left must have been permanent; he must have completed his military service satisfactorily; he must still be able to fill the job.

On the other hand: The former employer is required to give the veteran back his job (or its equivalent) if he possibly can, at the same rate of pay and with the same seniority and privileges the veteran enjoyed before, and the veteran cannot be fired without cause within one year after re-employment.

If the veteran has any difficulty getting his old job back, he should go to the re-employment committee attached to his local draft board. It is through this committee that the veteran's re-employment problem, if he has trouble getting his old job back, may finally be taken into the U. S. district court without any expense to him.

Getting a new job: Suppose a veteran doesn't want his old job back but wants a new one. He can tell that to the re-employment committee, too. He's got advice there. Or he should apply directly and promptly to the U. S. Employment Service.

In each of the U. S. E. S. offices there is a special veterans' employment representative.

Getting a government job: If a veteran was a permanent federal civil service employee when he went to war, he should apply to the agency where last employed within 40 days after his military discharge.

If he has difficulty getting that job back, he should apply to the Civil Service Commission at Washington. But if he satisfies the requirements, he is entitled to his old job back or one of similar seniority and pay.

If he didn't have a federal civil service job before entering the armed forces but wants one now, as a veteran he will get special consideration and preference in civil service examinations.

FARM MACHINERY AT SALONA RATION FREE

War Food Administrator Marvin Jones has lifted all remaining ration and distribution controls on farm machinery and equipment except corn pickers.

Combines, corn binders, and tractors were on the list of 22 items from which Jones removed wartime distribution control. At one time 80 items were so controlled.

The other items included mowers, manure spreaders, side delivery rakes, hay loaders, pick-up hay balers, grain drills, potato planters, potato diggers, silo fillers, irrigation pumps, power sprayers, well water systems, power pumps, farm milk coolers, sheet metal water well casing, and farm scales.

Most farmers are in need of some of the equipment removed from the ration list and the Salona Supply Co. announces that it is in a position to supply immediately many of the items and that the others will be in their stocks very soon.

To be certain of early delivery it is suggested that you make arrangements for delivery of any needed equipment at an early date.

MONTHLY AUTOMOBILE CHECKUPS ARE URGED

The Office of Defense Transportation stated last week that the nation's stockpile of passenger cars for essential users is rapidly declining towards the danger level and urged strict observance of conservation measures to prevent destruction of wartime transportation services.

The Ford Motor Co. has been making every effort to convince the motoring public that their old cars must be checked at regular intervals if the cars are to continue to give service. The H. I. Hine Motor Co. on W. State st. has been encouraged to sell its customers on the idea of a monthly check-up with the thought in mind that the minor adjustments will many times save a major repair bill a little later.

Not only does this method of maintenance save the motorist money but it also saves manpower in building replacement parts and vital materials as made available for war equipment.

Alfred B. Nobel, Swedish dynamite inventor, left $9,200,000 to provide annual awards of from $20,000 to $60,000 to persons who, in chemistry, physics, physiology, medicine, literature and peace, had made the greatest contribution toward world progress and humanity's welfare.

Bucks Win Big Six Crown, Now Point Toward Big Ten

By HAROLD HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Oct. 2.—Having taken care of the Big Six conference, Ohio State University's Buckeyes were all set today to get down to the main order of business—a quest for the Big Ten football championship.

The Bucks, with a 54-6 conquest of Missouri behind them, will begin their western conference duties here next Saturday with Iowa as their opponent.

States triumph placed them alongside Miami and Muskingum in the unbeaten and untied class in Ohio. All three will be in action during next Saturday's six-game program. Here is the schedule:

Here's Week's Card
Iowa at Ohio State; Baldwin-Wallace at Denison; Case at Oberlin; Ohio Wesleyan at Bowling Green; Miami at Rochester; Muskingum at Capital.

A crowd of 29,908 fans sat in on Ohio State's impressive 1944 debut. They watched 39 different players in action and saw even the third stringers take a hand in the scoring. They saw a defense that was so tight, Missouri reached Ohio State territory only twice.

Carroll Widdoes, serving as head coach of the Bucks for the first time, used his regulars only a few seconds more than half the game. They accounted for four of State's eight touchdowns.

Little Gene Janekot got two touchdowns for the second stringer, and in the closing minutes of the ball game M. N. Hamilton and George Gordon of the third team joined in the merriment by reaching scoring territory.

Three Didn't Count
Three other Ohio State touchdowns didn't count because of penalties. The second team got two of them and the other was an 87-yard run by the veteran Les Horvath.

Meanwhile, Miami university continued to dominate the picture among the state's smaller schools. The Redskins chalked up their third straight victory by drubbing Western Michigan 32-6.

The Miami triumph was one of five gathered by Ohio schools in six games with out-of-state foes. The only loser was Case which dropped a 22-7 decision to West Virginia. Denison, Bowling Green and Ohio Wesleyan were the other Ohio winners.

Denison pounded out a 40-12 victory over Bethany college to stay in the unbeaten class and Baldwin-Wallace did the same thing by drubbing Oberlin, 35-0. Denison and Baldwin-Wallace have won three games each and Case has been tied once.

Bowling Green squeezed past Alma college, 19-6, and Ohio Wesleyan hit the victory trail for the first time with a 35 to 6 conquest of DePaul.

Muskingum's opening game 6-0 victory was recorder Friday night against West Virginia Tech.

Dugan Sparks Irish To 20-0 Win Over Bengals

STUEBENVILLE, Oct. 2.—Tommy Dugan, Catholic Central's stellar left half, led the Irish to a 20-0 drubbing of Wellsville's Bengals here Saturday night.

Sparked by Dugan's passing, running and defensive work, the Stuebenville squad had an easy time with the Bengals.

The victory was the second in three games for Central and the third defeat in three times for Wellsville. Central was beaten in an opener, 13-0, by East Liverpool.

ATHLETICS WIN OVER ALL-STARS

Take 10-5 Victory In Try With Team of County's Top Players

Smashing out 12 important blows, the Salem Athletics yesterday subdued a supposedly powerful All-County team at Columbiana's Firestone park with a 10-5 victory.

Pitted against a choice of the best from East Palestine, East Liverpool, Columbiana and Lisbon, the Salem outfit went through the contest with sailing colors and emerged twice as good in total as the All-Stars.

Although behind 2-6 for three innings, the Salem team came back with three runs in the fourth, three more in the sixth, one each in the seventh and eighth and two in the ninth.

Al Lydick did the hurling for Salem and limited the All-Stars to 10 hits, but kept them well enough scattered after the first frame to put the game on ice. The All-Stars got a run in each of the fifth, eighth and ninth frames to make their five run total.

Steve Cibula and Lydick notched doubles for Salem while Al Blosser, Ed Hysman and Jim Churner smashed two baggers for the opponents. Bill Faulkner, hurler for the All-Stars, smashed out a four baser to tally one of the All-Stars runs.

Lydick performed with effectiveness on the mound, setting nine strike-outs and walking but three men. His opponent also struck out nine and walked three.

By far the outstanding performer for the talented Leetonia squad was diminutive Ed Duco, who is playing his third year of varsity ball. The speedy flashback exhibited loads of driving power, a superb stiff-arm and an all-around ability on defense. He scored three of his team's six touchdowns and made one extra point.

McDonald's only score came seconds before the final whistle ended the contest. Ed Grant, McDonald right half, sped around his own right end for 30 yards. The score came against Leetonia's third team.

The Columbiana county aggregation went through the entire game without being forced to punt and ran rough-shod over the weaker foe. At no time during the game did the Leetonia first team lose the ball on downs.

BOUDREAU SNARES NAT VICTORY OVER TIGERS PAVES ROAD
Browns Take Yanks, 5-2, As Surprising Nats Defeat Detroit
By LARRY SMITH
CLEVELAND, Oct. 2.—Cleveland's fifth place Indians yesterday completed their worst campaign since 1936 but Manager Lou Boudreau experienced his most successful season as a player.
The 27-year-old shortstop-pitcher snared the American league batting crown with a .327 average, two points better than his nearest rival, Boston's Bobby Doerr, now in the Army.
Boudreau's performance refuted one of baseball's pet theories that the cares and worries of a playing manager impair his effectiveness on the field.
Fell Apart Mid-Year
Although the Indians fell apart in mid-season, club owner, Alva Bradley indicated his confidence in Boudreau as a manager by announcing Saturday that he had torn up Lou's three-year contract which still had one year to run, and had signed him for another three-year term. His annual salary figure is believed to be in excess of $25,000. Boudreau assumed leadership of the club in 1942.
Several factors contributed to the Tribe's disappointing performance. Hurlers Jim Bagby and Al Smith, who accounted for 17 victories apiece last year, totaled only 11 triumphs this season.
Another moundsmen, Alie Reynolds, developed a sore arm and was sent home late in the season. Outfielder Jeff Heath's series of knee injuries kept him on the bench most of the campaign while Third Baseman Ken Keltner experienced an early season slump.
Second Baseman Ray Mack and Catcher Buddy Rosar were available when they could secure time off from their war plant jobs and Boudreau publicly deplored the necessity of playing them under such circumstances.
Boudreau has announced plans for rebuilding the club and has indicated several Indians would be placed in the show case during the winter trading market.
The Yankees failed in an attempt to win their fourth straight flag, dropping to third, the lowest in the Joe McCarthy regime. The Yanks put up a game fight, but faded in the last week, ending with four straight losses to the Browns.
The Boston Red Sox fell back when their ace pitcher, Tex Hughson, and their ace hitter, Bobby Doerr, were called into the service. They finished with a .500 average in fourth place. They ended the season splitting a twin-bill with the White Sox, winning the first 3-1 and then losing 4-1.
The second division clubs were Cleveland and Philadelphia tied for fifth, Chicago seventh and Washington eighth. The Mackmen won both games from the Indians 5-2 and 5-0 to tie Cleveland.
For the Senators, it marked their first last-place finish since Clark Griffith took charge in 1912.
The Cards who won their eighth flag and their third in succession by a 1 1/2 game margin, ended the season by splitting a twin bill with the Giants, losing 6-5 in 13 innings and winning the second 4-0-5.
Pittsburgh nosed out Cincinnati for the runner-up spot on the final day, splitting a twin-bill with Philadelphia winning the opener 9-1 and losing the nightcap 7-1, while the Reds bowed to Brooklyn 6-5. Cincinnati finished third 1 1/2 games behind.
The Chicago Cubs rallied to snatch fourth place from the Giants. The Giants led the second division followed by Boston, Brooklyn and Philadelphia.

BRICKER CITES TRUMAN CHARGES HITTING NEW DEAL

By E. E. EASTERLY

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Oct. 2.—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio asserted today the Democrats' own nominee for vice president had said the Roosevelt administration was responsible for "inadequate over-all planning and delay in determining basic policies" of the war program.

The Republican candidate for vice president, opening a four-week western campaign that will carry him to the Pacific coast, quoted from speeches, writings and official reports which he said had been made by Sen. Harry S. Truman, his Democratic opponent.

Yet, Bricker asserted in a prepared text released by his campaign staff, Sen. Truman "now would have the American people believe that the welfare of this nation and its future, as well as the peace of the whole world" depend upon another four years of Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Bricker remarked that Truman had obtained facts as chairman of a senate committee which investigated the war effort, "so we may be confident that he is revealing the painful truth."

Truman, he continued, wrote for the American magazine in 1942: "The reasons for the waste and confusion, the committee found, were everywhere the same. The lack of courageous, unified leadership and centralized direction at the top."

In 1941, Bricker told his audience, Truman said in a radio address: "M-day or mobilization day came and they didn't even know it until several months later. And then it turned out that the plans available were all based on assumed facts. The assumed facts proved false, and hastily improvised plans had to be substituted."

Bricker declared that the Democratic vice presidential nominee also had criticized Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO Political Action committee supporting President Roosevelt for a fourth term. Hillman then was associated with the War Production board, Bricker explained.

Bricker speaks in Nashville, Tenn., tonight.

GIRL STOWAWAY

chant Marine from Youngstown, O., who fell in love with me," Thomas quoted her. "He and another sailor smuggled me aboard their ship in a sailor's uniform."

She related she was hidden in a locker and remained there for the 21-day crossing. She added the sailor let her out for a few minutes every morning.

"I fainted several times, but I didn't mind. I wanted to get to America so badly," Miss MacLeod said.

Thomas asserted the girl related she was taken ashore, still in a sailor's uniform, when the ship arrived in Boston and that the seaman brought her to Youngstown.

Thomas said police found her there while searching for her roommate, who had fled a welfare home. The officer said Miss MacLeod reported she had been living for the last month and a half by selling some of the engagement rings her suitors had given her.

The name Marine comes from an old French word "marin," meaning sea soldier.

There are 88 keys in the full compass keyboard of the piano-forte.

Some Song!

Lt. David Stanley Crockett, USNR, above, of Indianapolis, Ind., wonders if it was the song or the shells that caused 500 Germans to surrender to him. Crockett, a fighter pilot, was shot down over Toulon, France, and captured. He and fellow-prisoners sang "God Bless America" during an all-day Allied bombardment of the Nazis. Then the Germans' commanding officer summoned Crockett and surrendered himself and men.

to see that food is brought in from the surrounding countryside and distributed so that nobody starves."

Tulin said that although German civilians leaned over backward to obey regulations and were thoroughly subdued "they don't take our restrictions in very good spirit."

Allowed to Keep Radios

"But one burgemeister told us, 'We expected much worse. We expected we would be tortured and shot and that the day after you came in our streets would be full of civilians with their throats cut. Had we known how we really were to be treated—even though you are very strict with us—none of our people would have fled farther into Germany. They would have remained in their homes here.'"

Tulin said that although "we have taken firearms and daggers we have made no effort to search civilian homes and remove their radios or burn their books. Any German can tune in and listen to all the Nazi propaganda broadcasts he wants to and he can sit and read Hitler's Mein Kampf all day long if he has any mind to. We don't think many of them do, however."

YANKS LAUNCH

of Antwerp, to evacuate the islands immediately in view of the likelihood of a "severe and prolonged aerial bombardment."

Led by hard-fighting armor, the British drove five miles north of the village of Oost, at the northwestern corner of their salient, to the Maas (Meuse), and organized a front commanding the Nazi defense line three miles east of 'S Hertogenbosch.

Pull-Out Expected

It was through 'S Hertogenbosch that the Germans were attempting to keep open a safety valve between the British cutoff and the broad Holland deep, an estuary of the Maas.

A correspondent reported increasing signs of a pull-out through this tightening gap of tens of thousands of German troops still in southwestern Holland.

Still striking for the long Nijmegen bridge across the Waal Rhine, the Germans sent tanks, flame throwers and infantry beating against the Tommies' line northeast and southeast of the city, but they were broken up by rocket-firing Typhoon attacks, British heavy guns and infantry steel.

Some groups of 15 to 20 infiltrated into the British lines but they were being wiped out today.

SOVIETS GAIN

were overwhelming the dwindling guerrillas.

Soviet progress toward the Morava valley route of the Belgrade-Greece railway was the only important advance claimed today along the entire eastern front.

On the northern flank of the eastern front, a dispatch to Pravda declared, the "hour of liberation is near for Riga."

Some 50 miles east of Riga Red army assault troops widened a gap in the enemy line to more than 60 miles, the front line report said.

The Germans clung stubbornly to positions in the Vidzen hills west of Madona.

A German counter-attack with a tank division was beaten back with heavy losses.

Astology is believed to be the earliest science.

Blasts P. A. C.

Robert E. Stripling, chief investigator for the Dies Committee investigating the C. I. O. Political Action Committee, is pictured at recent hearing in Washington as he charged that the P. A. C. is "following the Communist Party line" and is "part of the revamped blueprint of the Communist Party to . . . destroy the American system of government by taking over a major political party."

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

and military operations will be difficult in November and December. However, if General Ike is able to stage his grand offensive soon as we are able to crack the German defenses by a head-on assault, we should be able to go far even after winter sets in.

It's important to note that Hitler has in his defensive lines everything he possesses in the way of manpower. His communications supply bases and war industries are being subjected to a merciless bombardment by the Allied air fleet. The Reich is being ruled by Gestapo—a thoroughly unhealthy situation. And don't forget that 600,000 foreign slaves in Germany are a long way from the sea, and the problem of supplies is a tough one. If the Nazis haven't wrecked the port of Calais too badly, it should be a windfall for us, since it is only a score of miles from England and has good communications to the interior of France.

The Statute of Liberty was presented by the people of France to the United States to commemorate the 100th anniversary of American independence.
